2-[Alta] [Mining]. Map of Alta Cottonwood Districts. Salt Lake City: Wm. H. Child & Company, 1915. Map [44 cm x 37 cm] / [17.5" x 14.5"] on a single sheet [61 cm x 43 cm] / [24" x 17"] Folds as issued with a few small nicks at fold ends. closed split at center fold.

Map showing the claims at the top of Salt Lake's Cottonwood Canyons. Reverse prints a prospectus and glowing descriptions of some of the claims.

"We believe that conditions are ripe for a big up-swing on the Salt Lake Exchange that will carry all of the Alta-Cottonwoods to much higher levels, with sensational advances in Alta Con., Wasatch, Emma, and one or two others. This is buyin time, and we urge our clients to use the wire and take advantage of the great opportunity offered by the entire Alta-Cottonwoods list." - from prospectus.

3- Becker, F. Otto. Custer's Last Hight. St. Louis, MO: Anheuser Busch, Inc., (c.1952). Chromolithograph [61 cm x 96.5 cm] / [24" x 38"] in attractive gilt wooden frame [73.5 cm x 108 cm] / [29" x 42.5"] with the original printed Anheuser-Busch title plate at the foot. Bright. This has not been examined out of the frame. 'O. Becker' at the lower right corner. Printed by Milwaukee Lithographic & Engraving Company.

Custer's Last Fight is considered one the most popular lithographs of the late 19th and 20th Centuries, and was displayed in countless saloons, dining establishments, and barber shops. This print was used as an advertising promotion for Anheuser Busch. This work is based on the Cassilly Adams painting which in turn was inspired by the narrative of the battle by Crow Scout, Curley, along with the John Mulvany 1881 painting Custer's Last Fight. This image depicts the battle between Custer's troops and Native American warriors at Little Big Horn. Custer is featured at center waving a saber and dressed in a fringed buckskin. The remaining cavalry officers, except for Custer's brother Tom, are dressed in military uniform. The Native Americans are armed with scalping knives, tomahawks, clubs, spears, and rifles, with the dead in foreground.

5-Burr, David H. Map Showing the Extent of Surveys in the Territory of Utah, 1856.

Philadelphia: P.S. Duval & Son Lith., 1856. Map [82 cm x 39 cm] / [32.5" x 15.5"] on a single sheet [88 cm x 43 cm] / [34.5" x 17"] Folds as issued. Better than very good with some minor damage to the left edge. Beautifully hand-tinted.

Early Utah Territorial map that shows the Great Salt Lake drainage, from Nephi to Malad, and Tuilla [Tooele] to the Wasatch Front. The valleys are all named as well as most of the settlements, with a few spelling variations or different names altogether, including 'Willow Creek' [Draper]; 'Union Fort' [Midvale]; 'Summit Creek' [Santaquin] and 'Mountainville' [Alpine].

This map was one of the last undertaken by the noted cartographer, David H. Burr, who faced constant harassment and sabotage from the Mormon locals while working on this. Published as part of the 34th Congress, 3rd Session Ex. Document Number 5. Moffat 44.

7- [Eidler, Charles C.]. Utah Recreation Vernacular Album. [Salt Lake City]: 1931-1935. [94]pp. Oblong quarto [26 cm x 33.5 cm] Side-sewn brown pebbled buckram. 426 silver gelatin snapshots (most 3.5" x 2.5") in corner mounts on black leaves. Views well identified in ink in margins. The album is interspersed throughout with 47 contemporary post cards, 11 are RPPCs. A handful of larger photographs appear throughout.

An excellent vernacular photography album that nicely documents recreating in Utah by a group of hunters, fishers, hikers, and adventurers. Views of the Wasatch foothills, (Grandeur, Parley's, Willow Creek, Big Cottonwood, Little Cottonwood, Lamb's), Provo Canyon and River, Bryce Canyon, Zion Canyon, Salt Flats, Dry Lake, Lake Tahoe, Redwoods, Cedar Valley, Skull Valley, Promontory, Ogden Canyon, Josepa, Ensign Peak, Strawberry River, Wolf Creek, Fish Lake, and other locales. Some nice views of the Salt Lake Temple and Sugarhouse street scenes. Nicely identified and dated. This is the finest such album that we've handled. This album appears to have been compiled by Charles C. Eidler of Salt Lake City.

10- Kitchell, L.D. Glacier National Park, Travelogue. [Topeka, KS]: Knights and Ladies of Security, (c.1914). Bifolium [23 cm x 30.5 cm] / [9" x 12 cm]

Promotional invitation for a lecture with magic lantern slides from longtime Great Northern representative Lawrence D. Kitchell, that was given in Topeka, Kansas. "Three thousand persons, the largest crowd that has greeted Lawrence Kitchell on his present tour, attended the travelogue at the auditorium last night, given under the auspices of the Knights and Ladies of Security. Yesterday afternoon 500 school children thoroughly enjoyed the dances of the Black Foot Indians and the wonderful scenery of Glacier National Park which was shown upon the screen and explained by Mr. Kitchell." - Topeka Daily Capital (05/12/1914).

11- Meyer, Joseph [State of Deseret]. Neueste Karte von Mexico Nach den besten Quellen entw. u. gezeichnet von Hauptm. Radefeld. Hildburghausen, GER: Stich, Druck und Verlag der Geographischen Anstalt des Bibliographischen Instituts, 1850. Map [29 cm x 35.5 cm] / [11" x 14"] on a single sheet [35 cm x 43 cm] / [13.5" x 17"] Hand tinted borders to Mexican states. A few short, closed tears at the head in the margin (does not affect map).

Rare map, that locates the shortly lived 'State of Deseret' which Brigham Young proposed in the spring of 1849. This provisional state was never recognized by the United States government, but was still located by a handful of European map makers, who wanted to provide in their mind, the most accurate map and to put it in the hands of the public at large, but specifically those who wanted to take to the Mormon, Oregon & California trails and settle in the then largely uninhabited western U.S. The dream of the State of Deseret ended in the fall of 1850, with the establishment of the Territory of Utah. Salt Lake City is located at its present location and named 'Mormonfort. Not in Moffat. Not in Wheat.

12- Preuss, Charles. Map of Oregon and Upper California From the Surveys of John Charles Fremont And other Authorities. Baltimore, MD: E. Weber & Company, 1848. Map [49 cm x 42 cm] / [19.5" x 16.5"] on a single sheet [61 cm x 47 cm] / [24" x 18.5"] Folds as issued. Nice condition.

Major and important western map. This is the first map to include reference to the Golden Gate at the entrance of San Francisco Bay and the first to locate the gold fields 'El Dorado' or Gold Region. This map is also the first to locate the Humboldt River, that was given its name by this map. The 'Great Basin' was also named by this map. The 'Mormon Settlements' are located to the east of the Great Salt Lake. This is the rarer and smaller version, that excludes the Missouri and Oregon Territories, and only shows California and the Great Basin portion of 1848, that Fremont issued as a separate map. This is one of the only detailed reports to come out of Fremont's ill-fated Third Expedition. Wheat: 559 Wheat, Gold Region: 41. Moffatt 17.

13- R. Crumb and Mark Knudsen. "I'm a Hippie." [Monkey Wrench Gang]. [Salt Lake City]: [Dream Garden Press], [1987]. Unique. Printed black and white illustration [43 cm 28 cm] / [17" x 11"] that has been hand-tinted. Illustration is bright. Rare.

Utah based artist, Mark Knudsen, was hired to hand-tint this illustration, that was intended to be printed in the corresponding calendar of the tenth-anniversary edition of the Monkey Wrench Gang, that was published by Ken Sanders' Dream Garden Press. When R. Crumb was presented this for his feedback, he was unhappy with the coloring. This illustration faces page 193.

The tenth anniversary edition of the Monkey Wrench Gang contained illustrations throughout by the legendary illustrator, R[obert] Crumb. Robert Crumb (American b. 1943) is an American cartoonist and musician, who is well-known for influential works and contributions to the underground comix movement in the 1960s. Crumb is known for his quirky artwork coupled with idiosyncratic dialogue.

15- Robert C. Euler and Henry F. Dobyns (series editors). Indian Tribal Series. Phoenix, AZ: [Imperial Lithographers], 1970-76. 40 volume set with 40 corresponding silver medals. Octavos [23 cm] Blue wrappers with the title silver stamped on the backstrip. Blind stamped image on the cover of each matches one of the sides of the corresponding coin. All volumes very good or better, some show minor sunning to backstrips. The medals were minted by Franklin Mint and are housed in book boxes that match the printed volumes. Each silver medal weighs a troy ounce and has specially commissioned artwork for the front and the official Tribal Seal on the reverse. This set is complete.

Tribes covered (in publishing order): Havasupai - Hopi - Apache - Sioux - Paiute - Navajo - Crow - Osage - Papago - Yakima - Mescalero - Choctaw - Creek - Seminole - Cherokee - Kalispel - Chickasaw - Three Affiliated Tribes (Mandan, Arikara, and Hidatsa) - Ponca - Kaw - Kickapoo - Chippewa - Kenaitze - Chitimacha - Quapaw - Narragansett - Seneca - Hualapai - Ottawa - Coughatta - Pawnee - Modoc - Potawatomi - Eskimo - Wichita.

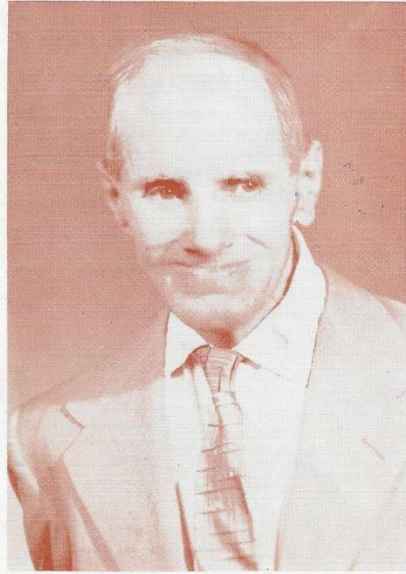

Each volume focuses on a particular tribe and were compiled with the tribe's cooperation and collaboration with each signed by a tribal chairman or leader on the limitation page. The participating tribes had some editorial control and signed off on the designs used for the medals (one side of each coin is the corresponding tribe's seal). The editors were leading academics and world-renowned anthropologists who both focused on indigenous peoples of the Americas. This series was by subscription and is rare complete, and with the tribal medals.

19- White, Ruth Taylor. Utah. [Boston]: [Little, Brown & Co.], [1935]. Pictorial map [29.5 cm x 21 cm] printed in vibrant full color. Near fine. From the book 'Our USA-A Gay Geography' with text by Frank J. Taylor.

Charming pictorial map that locates some of the distinctive and scenic places in Utah and the cultures and people who inhabit this excellent place.

"Because the lofty Wasatch Range rises sheer above northern Utah, forming the southern spur of the Rockies, Utah is classed as one of the Rocky Mountain states. However, western Utah is a part of the Great Basin and the southern part of the State verges off into the Southwestern Desert region. Utah is a State of infinite variety, famous for its rainbow-colored canyons, cliffs and natural bridges, and Great Salt Lake. It is renowned likewise as the Mormon State. It was founded, and for a time governed by the Mormon Church." - Frank J. Taylor.
